

REBECCA

IT SHOULD BEEN YOU

As THEY all head back into the Reception Hall, SHEILA enters.

SHEILA

(smirking)

So, Judy, how long has your daughter been a homosexual?

JUDY

Jenny's not a homosexual, she's just big boned.

SHEILA

Not Jenny. Rebecca.

JUDY

That's crazy. Rebecca just got married.

REBECCA

(turns on JENNY, furious)

Jenny!

JENNY

(horrified)

It wasn't me.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

REBECCA

Then how did she find out?

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

SHEILA

I overheard her talking in the bathroom with that Marty fellow.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

REBECCA

This is not the way I wanted this to come out.

MURRAY

What to come out?

REBECCA

I'm gay!

Silence.

MURRAY

What does this mean, you're gay?

GREG

Well, it's like when two women get together and—

MURRAY

I know what gay is! Rebecca? Is this true?

REBECCA

Well... kind of... in the sense of yes.

[REDACTED]

MURRAY

Does Brian know?

BRIAN

He's gay too.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
(amicably)
[REDACTED]

REBECCA

Brian, I'm sorry.

BRIAN

Actually, it felt kinda good.

REBECCA

I know, right?

MURRAY

Wait a minute. You mean, this marriage was a hoax. A big joke to pull on your parents?

BRIAN

Look, we can explain the whole thing, Mr. Steinberg.

MURRAY

You better do that. NOW!

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

REBECCA

Dad, I don't think that's such a good—

MURRAY

SPEAK!

REBECCA

Okay. Okay, Dad, I'm sorry. Don't get upset. Okay?

(off his look)

Okay. Well... it's simple really. Brian and I had just turned thirty.

GREG

[REDACTED]

REBECCA

And well, you know how it is. Old age was staring us in the face.

BRIAN

Becca and I have known each other since college... and when she realized she was —

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

BRIAN

Gay. We became really close.

REBECCA

A few months ago, the four of us were all hanging out...

JUDY

What four?

REBECCA

Brian and Greg. And me and Annie.

JUDY

You means she's your uh...

REBECCA

Yes, Mom, she's my uh.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

BRIAN

So, we were sitting around and we realized that all four of us are thirty.
And we're —

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

REBECCA

[REDACTED] We were broke.

BRIAN

Totally broke.

[REDACTED]

To [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

But I [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

REBECCA

We didn't have any money.

BRIAN

But I did. Well, kind of. My grandfather left me a trust fund, which I couldn't collect until I got married. To a woman.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

BRIAN

[REDACTED] God knows, we never would have done this if things were different, the way they shoulda been—

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

BRIAN

So, I talked Rebecca into marrying me.

REBECCA

Which wasn't hard. I mean, come on, all because of some stupid will Brian can't marry the person he loves. Who's business is it anyway if—?

BRIAN

Rebecca! Now, might not be the best time for that.

REBECCA

Sorry. Once you start coming out it's hard to stop.

BRIAN

Anyway, quickie marriage, split the inheritance, and get Rebecca on my insurance plan.

REBECCA

So I would be covered when I have the baby.

Stunned Silence.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

MURRAY

You're pregnant?

REBECCA

Yes.

JUDY

(elated)

With a baby?

REBECCA

God, I hope so.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

JUDY

Who's the father?

REBECCA

Well, it's kind of complicated.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

JUDY

(hopeful)

Is it Annie?

REBECCA

No, Mom, that's still not possible.

JUDY

Nothing would surprise me today. Then who?
